Now a Captain

Our readers will be pleased to read the following extracts from a letter received from Montie Turnbull, who is on the firing line, by Martin Stubbs:

"I was only in England two days then got shifted out here as captain. We spend a great deal of our time in the trenches; to be exact we have eight days in, and then come out for four days rest in a village about two miles from the firing line, but even then you are none too safe, as we generally get a shell or two which generally smashes up a few houses. The weather is very bad that is our worst enemy; it is pretty cold too, and when it is our turn to be relieved you can imagine we are sure glad. When this cheerful little war is over, I shall return to Carlstadt, which I hope to find a flourishing spot. I hope they have not spilt my land yet by drilling for oil. You might give my love to Foster."

Well Drillers Take Note

Joe Knutson, who had the contract to execute the cistern near the town well, made all the natives last week who passed by where he was working, stop, look, and look again. Over the big hole, John had arranged a contraption of three posts, the ends meeting at the top. A short arm extending at the top. By a series of ropes, John could elevate his pail of earth, pull some more rope to carry the pail out on the short arm, pull still another rope and dump the pail. Reversing, the pail returned to be filled again. Handy eh? It makes well digging a one man job.

R. H. Thornton, of the News staff, spent part of Saturday in Sulfurd, on business.

The Carlstadt News and Grain Growers Guide, both for one year, for $1.50. This offer may be withdrawn at any time. Do it now!

One of the Johnson Boys—Guess which?

School Board Meeting

The School Board met on Monday evening; all members were present. Mayor McDiarmid attended the meeting, and the board informed his worship that they could do nothing in a financial way until they had been supplied with a full list of delinquent school taxes. Mr. McDiarmid promised that the council would give consideration.

William Stubbs Dead

Martin Stubbs sustained a loss last week, when his father, Samuel Stubbs, passed away at the residence of his son, William Stubbs, of Seven Persons. The late Mr. Stubbs was in his 74th year, and lived the greater part of his life at Caledon, Ontario. He is survived by his wife and five sons, all of whom are residents of Alberta. He has made many extended visits to Carlstadt, and his friendly disposition won him many friends in town. The remains were shipped Saturday evening from Seven Persons to Caledon, Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stubbs and lady were at the bedside of Mr. Stubbs for several days before death ensued. They returned home on Monday.

Neil Reenders has been appointed to assist the local relief officer over the busy season.

Rev. Cyril Swanson and W. D. MacKay took supper Sunday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. Jordan Basken.

Messrs Wood and McKee, of the Union Bank, were in Medicine Hat Saturday evening. They returned on the midnight.

We received a fine lot of renewals to the News last week. There are still a lot outstanding and this notice will be forced to discontinue the subscription. In these days of strenuous financing, you know—but what's the use, you want the paper so send on the dollar.

Mrs. L. H. McKinnon is on a visit to Davidson, Saskatchewan.

Mrs. F. E. McDiarmid and Mrs. H. B. Brigham spent Monday at the Mr. and Mrs. L. H. McKinnon's new home in the country.

Thon Swanby was on a business trip at Redcliff last week.

Miss Sadie Lemna spent a few days last week in Carlstadt as guest of Mrs. Nelson. Miss Lemna is now at her home at Tripoli.

Norwegian service in the school house Sunday March 7th at 2 o'clock. Service to be conducted by Rev. Braa, of Bow Island.

Louis Brenset was host to eight of his gentlemen friends on Saturday evening. The entertainment took the form of a whist drive with refreshments a la carte.

MacFarlane, of Tripoli, was in town Monday.

Next week, the News will publish the annual financial statement of King municipality.

Rev. Grady is spending this week in the country north of Carlstadt, holding organization meetings for the prohibition campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Malone, of Edmonton, are registered at the Carlstadt hotel. They will proceed to the home of Mrs. Malone's parents at Rainy Hills.

A traveller for a printing house in Calgary spent Wednesday in town. We are thankful to our friends that his trip was not without white. The Carlstadt News Job Department still produces good printing at reasonable prices, and we spend our money right in town.

Roy Woolven, who has spent the past few months at Davidson, Saskatchewan, is expected home soon.

Mrs. F. C. Woolven went to Medicine Hat Tuesday evening, returning Wednesday.

Brutus

The Colville ranch shipped a car load of horses to Edmonton last week.

Fred Whitehead is foreman at the ranch and George Turtle is cook.

Roy Garbutt and Gordon Hayes were visiting friends at Tripoli last week.

E. Potter and M. MacFarlane called on Brutus friends last week.

S. Boyd called at the Colville ranch Saturday.

Wesley McKen was a Tripoli visitor Monday and Tuesday.

Roy Garbutt, formerly of Brutus, now supposed to be at Tripoli. About six feet four inches tall, has blue eyes and is very boyish looking. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gratefully received. Sister Jane asks:

Alec Dewar, George Whitehead and Gilbert Masters called on S. Boyd Monday evening.

Fred Whitehead was a Carlstadt visitor Tuesday.

M. V. Wilson returned from Edmonton Tuesday.

Alf Ronning has returned to his homestead from Court D'Alene, Idaho.

Almost the population of Bingville were in Sulfurd Monday and Tuesday for hay. They're sure a hungry crowd.

Elvin Potter was visiting friends at Brutus last week.

Rainy Valley

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. MacDonald and family, Miss Emily Lamoy, and Joe Decker called on Mr. Lamoy Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dahl called at Thos. Ferdon's and C. O. Olsen's Wednesday.

Several of the neighbors called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ferdon Wednesday and spent most of the evening playing cards.

Chas. Goddard called at the Thos. Ferdon home Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Thomas and John Bone called at the Kinsall home Friday afternoon.

Several people from the Valley attended the dance at Royal school house Friday evening. If you want a good time, go to the Royal.

THURSDAY, MARCH 4th, 1915

THE TIMES. Carlstadt is weathering the money stringency better than many towns of its size. In a monetary way the civic authorities have had only one cause of destitution to carry through the winter. Many other families have felt the pinch of rigorous economy; but often that is a blessing in disguise. Spring is on the way and farm labor will be in great demand. The editor of the News does not set himself up as a prophet, or the son of a prophet, but we are confident that the month of February just passed, has marked the low ebb of the hard times, and an improvement will soon be noticeable.

THE BEST of feeling has always existed between the Review of Redcliff, and the Carlstadt News. Last week, our friend of the Review published the following, for which we offer felicitations:

"Mr. Ketchum, who has been editor and proprietor of the Carlstadt News for the past few years, has sold out his interests to W. D. McKay. Mr. Ketchum is leaving for his old home in Illinois. The Review welcomes Mr. McKay to his new field and wishes him every success in his venture."

YOU! Yes, the government supplies the seed, the rainfall rests with Providence, but the rest depends on YOU!

A Youso lady down in the state of Pennsylvania has been sleeping for 69 days. "This is the life."

IF Those minstrel boys aren't careful with their "local gags" to-morrow night, they will be about as popular in town as a country editor after a political skirmish. Please let the News down light fellows.

News From Home

When the evenin' shade is fallin' at the closin' of the day,
An' a feller rests from labor, smokin' at his pipe of clay,
There's nothin' does him so much good, be fortune up or down,
As the little country paper from his old home town.

It ain't a thing of beauty and it's print's not always clean,
But it straightens out his temper, when a feller's feelin' mean:
It takes the wrinkles off his face, an' loosens off the frown,
That little country paper from his old home town.

It tells of all the parties, and the balls of Pumpkin Row;
'Bout who spent Sunday with who's girl, an' how the crops'll grow.

An' how it keeps a feller posted who's up and who is down,
That little country paper from his old home town.

Now, I like to read the dailies, an' the story papers too;
And at times, the yaller novels and some other trash—don't you?

But when I what some other readin' that'll brush away a frown,
I want that little paper from my old home town.

How dear to our hearts is the steady subscriber,
Who pays in advance at the birth of each year;
Who lays down the money and does it quite gladly,
And casts 'round the office a halo of cheer.

He never says "Stop it! I cannot afford it!
I'm getting more magazines now than I can read!"
But always says "Send it! our people all like it—
The fact is we think it a help and a need."

How welcome his check, when it reaches our sanctum;
How it makes our pulse thro' how it makes our heart dance!

We outwardly thank him, we inwardly bless him—
The steady subscriber, who pays in advance.

Royal

Last week our mail carrier failed to go to town, but this place was as busy as ever.

Several have been hauling straw from F. Steads. We wish you no more straw, Frank.

H. E. Kimball lost a cow and calf last week.

E. F. Kimball is wearing a smile since finding his colts.

Mr. Hopkinson, wife and son, are expected home from Lethbridge soon, where they have been spending the winter.

E. E. Sears has returned to his homestead, where he is batching at present.

Lester Hanson was a welcome visitor with in this neighborhood last week.

The dance given at the Royal schoolhouse last Friday was a grand success. A fairly large crowd and a splendid time for little or no money.

Quite an excitement at the school house Friday morning, when the stove fell over with a very hot fire at the time. Very fortunately no one was hurt; and the fire was shovelled up with but very little damage to the floor. The accident was caused by a defective leg on the stove.

Cst. Ross, R.N.W.M.P. was calling here on his way north Monday.

Mrs. Henry Flanders is in the hospital at Medicine Hat.

Dr. McEwen was called to J. Packer's on Monday.

Everyone come to Royal next Saturday, to the Literary meeting and we will try to show you a good time, and a good supper—if you bring it.

Some of us from near here, were too late last week for hay, so we have to go again this week.

S. Thomas and wife and J. Bones called on H. E. Kimball Friday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Packer, a son, on March 1st.

Hurry on another hay day in Carlstadt.

CORRECTION

To the Carlstadt News.

In last week's issue of the Carlstadt News, I noticed that Mr. Wm. McLurg takes exception to an item printed in the Royal News about some hoodlums disturbing the literary meeting. I think Mr. McLurg that that subject was mentioned very tamely to say the least; and as I do not wish to mention any names in this matter, I will say no more. However, the parties can consider themselves lucky they were not called into court over the matter on Mr. and Mr. Andrew Lalud on Tuesday evening.

Peerless

Joe Reinfrew, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brown were callers at L. S. Ayers on Thursday.

A very enjoyable dance was participated in by a good sized gathering at W. Maxwell's on Friday night.

The U. F. A. meeting scheduled for the 13th of February had to be held over, owing to the rough weather and the consequent poor attendance. The postponed meeting was held in the schoolhouse the succeeding Saturday, and about thirty were present. Quite a number of interesting features were discussed, and, all things considered, this meeting was probably the best yet held. The next meeting is to be held at High Valley schoolhouse on March 19th, at 2 p.m. Ladies are specially invited to attend, to hear the debate on Women's Suffrage between Messrs Topping and Brown. A question drawer will be on the program for the first time, and the entertainment committee is busy securing talent for the social edification of all present.

Mr. and Mr. C. C. Mills visited at Wm. McIntosh's, Tripola, last week.

Mrs. L. S. Ayers, Mrs. R.S. Tribe and lady daughter, Mildred, have returned from Calgary.

Quite a number of people have been making fruitless trips to Jenner lately for government seed grain etc. No wonder these commodities run over the average in cost; for the usual performance seems to be to send in part of what is needed, and to hold up delivery on account of some other lacking necessity, as bills of lading, etc. In the meantime, the demurrage, agents' salaries and expenses, goes on adding to the cost. A great deal of dissatisfaction may be accounted for by the present once-a-week mail and train service; but there might be improvement in the matter of keeping these different items in mind at the forwarding office.

A few of the immediate neighbors of J. L. Brown's gathered at their home on the evening of the 22nd of February to celebrate the anniversary of George Washington, Max and J. L. The usual program of dancing, music, songs, cards, etc., were indulged in; and the party didn't break up till Old Sol was twinkling in the east. Those present included Messrs and Mesdames T. G. Musgrove, C. C. Mills, Walter Holm, Miss Grace Hobbelen, Messrs Will Stewart, Aymler and Fred Musgrove, Will Halford, A. I. Robertson, H. W. Wiseman, H. and H. E. Mills.

Miss Rebecca McCracken has been visiting for a few days in the Hat.

Duncan McCracken and N. S. Nelson called at J. L. Brown's Tuesday of last week.

The Lonesome Trail

A pleasant evening was spent at Mr. and Mrs. R. H. James, February 26th. The event being their first wedding anniversary. Progressive whist was played and an elaborate supper was served, after which the guests were entertained with various selections of music. The guests departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. James many happy anniversaries in the future.

E. I. Dold christened a new pair of sleighs last Monday.

Jack Hinkle and his cook took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Cole on Wednesday.

E. L. Dodd and Jack Hinkle went to Winfield Foxton's Sunday to get Mr. Dodd's awful mules.

Gus Orwald is touring the country on skis.

R. H. James and wife called on Rudolph Johnson and wife Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. John Lahd called on Mr. and Mr. Andrew Lalud on Tuesday evening.

Buy an Irrigated Farm FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

BECAUSE

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall and insures good crops, not occasionally, but every year. Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of feeders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $35 to $75 per acre, with twenty years' to pay and the privilege of a loan of $2,000.00 for improvements (5% interest); no principal payment at the end of first and second years and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved instances.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record.

BACK TO A FLAT.

President Fallières Becomes an Ordinary Citizen Again.

M. Fallières will retire from the Presidency of the republic in less than a week, and that is to say at the expiration of his seven years of office, and he has already made his plans with regard to the future.

Life at the Elysee has not had the effect of attracting him more to the right bank of the river than it did M. Loubet, who, like him, had long languished as President of the Senate before he obtained the highest rank that the nation could confer.

M. Loubet, on his departure from the palace in the Faubourg Saint Honoré, settled in a flat at No. 8 Rue Dante, a new house, with all modern comforts, not far from Notre Dame, and M. Fallières has decided on installing himself in an apartment of a house that he owns on the Boulevard Saint Germain, also situated on the "rive gauche."

"It is quite a central position, as he has explained to intimate friends. I shall have the Metropolitan Railway and every means of communication at my very door, and I shall be within easy access of the Chamber and the Senate." Republic can simply live, in fact, be the rule with him as with his predecessor.

The flat which M. Fallières is reserving for himself consists of a salon, a dining-room, a study and three bed chambers—just the ordinary suite and he will content himself with a housemaid, as he seems to be as adverse to having a man to wait on him as was Victor Hugo, who could never tolerate a butler or a valet.

M. Fallières, as may be added, has taken a very wise precaution. Since his very neighbors are the chief drawback to a Paris flat, he has made the tenants who occupy the apartments immediately above and below the one which he has selected for himself promise in their leases that they will not keep any animals or play the piano from morning till night, or for that matter, from night to morning.

It is wonderful how men like M. Fallières and M. Loubet can adapt themselves to such a change in their positions. To exchange a palace for a quiet flat and to be as happy in the new life as one has been in the old denotes a strength and a simplicity of character which are really admirable.

Since he left the Elysee M. Loubet has found a field of useful activity without obtruding himself in the slightest degree, and no one doubts will it be with M. Fallières. When he was President of the Senate M. Loubet was fond of taking a morning ride in an omnibus, and since his removal to the Rue Dante one often meets him enjoying a constitutional on the quays.

When he was President of the republic he went almost daily to the Bois, driving a pair of his horses, and now he is satisfied with more homely means of locomotion. M. Fallières already talks of patronizing the "Nord-Sud" Railway, and hints at the modest auto-bus. They both must have derived some well deserved material profit from the squabbling at the Luxembourg and the Elysee, and, moreover, they are both land-owners, each in his native district.

In these days of luxury and show such simplicity sets an example which might well be followed, when all is said and done, the average Frenchman is not given to ostentation and a man is still more considered for what he is than for what he possesses. As with Presidents, so it is with Ministers, many of whom return to their practices at the Bar or to literary pursuits as if they had never held the fate of the country in their hands. Their own desire being to be allowed to pursue their former avocations in peace and to be spared all intrusion from interviewers.

Nice Little Hint.

"I wonder," remarked a youthful astronomer who was very slow in doing what was expected of him, "if—if you will let me associate you with a star—Venus, perhaps, the star of love."

"Well, no," replied the young lady addressed thoughtfully. "I would rather that you thought of me as Saturn."

"Indeed! Why?"

"Oh, well, you know, didn't you tell me that Saturn has a ring?"

He brought one on the following day.

Cat Worship.

In ancient Egypt the cat was an object of worship. Herodotus narrates that when an Egyptian house was on fire the first thing to be saved was the cat. When the Roman conquered Egypt the cat received no more consideration than the religion of which it formed a part. Before that time in Egypt to kill a cat, even by accident, was punishable with death.

Turned Things About.

Pat was in the army and he was very awkward. One day he was out drilling, when the sergeant turned to him and said:

"Pat, what did you do before you came here?"

"Regrettably, yer honor, I used to drive pigs, but since I have come here I have nothing but pigs driving me."

—London Answers.

Cautious.

"Did the burglars overlook anything of value?" inquired the reporter.

"I'd rather not say anything about that," answered the man whose house had been robbed.

"Why not?"

"Because they'll be watching the papers for a day or two, I think, to find out."

Further Inquiry.

"What makes that red spot on your nose?" one man in Le Roy asked another last week.

"Glasses," was the reply.

Then came the important question, "Glasses of what?"

Tide Lake

The U. F. A. held their second meeting last Saturday evening in the schoolhouse. There was a good crowd in attendance and all seemed very much interested in the success of the organization. C. A. Thomas of Blougrass, was present and gave an very interesting talk on the object and good of the U. F. A. At the conclusion of the business came the debate on the question, Resolved "That the farmers should have a political ticket." The affirmative speaker was E. E. Allen; A. F. Foster speaking for the negative. It was decided in favor of the affirmative.

There was a dance in the school house Friday night. A large crowd was present and a good time was enjoyed.

Our young people report a splendid time at the Tide Lake school house Friday, February 28th. The proceeds are to be used to buy accessories for the school. An orchestra of three instruments played.

Some of our farmers hit it lucky in picking a hay day last week. They came back with a smile on their faces as though they had struck oil.

The more progressive farmers here are taking advantage of these balmy days, in getting their farm machinery and harness in shape for a strenuous season.

A very good imitation of a bayonet charge takes place at some of the local dances.
